Lawyer Frank Moss, counsel for Dr. Parkhurst's Society, said to an "Evening World" reporter this morning:
"There is very little doubt that Capt. Martens will be put on trial again on the same charges which were preferred before.

"The condition of his precinct is disgraceful and it has been getting worse instead of better since his attention was called to the matter.

"The Society is not moving in the matter this time, however, except to furnish what assistance it can in the way of securing evidence of the character of the places which are now being openly run in that locality in violation of the law."

Charges have been made against a number of police officials during the past day or two, and will probably come up for trial next week.
